Hostage unharmed

Norland standoff ends peacefully

by Andrew Milne

A four and a half hour armed standoff ended without injury Saturday, when a Norland man surrendered to the OPP tactical team surrounding his house.

A woman police say the man had been holding against her will, left the scene a little prior to his surrender, also without injury.

Norland resident Larry Gauci is in Lindsay jail awaiting a bail hearing, following the incident.

Neighbour John Chamberlain, who witnessed the end of the standoff, said "I decided to walk out to see if they still had the roadblock up. I got out to about halfway, and I saw Larry [Gauci] — he was coming out with his hands up. The cops yelled at me to get in the house, so I ran. I heard Larry say 'Don't shoot'."

Chamberlain and wife Lorie said the tactical team seemed to be trying to keep out of sight prior to the surrender. They were dressed in camouflage gear, and seemed to be approaching the house by stealth. Except for members who actually approached from their yard, they say, they didn't even see most of them until Gauci came out.

"When he came out, The SWAT guys [the tactical team] just came out of everywhere... like mosquitoes out of the bush. There were two across the road, four behind the house, maybe five in the field beside the house," said John.

Four of the officers then approached Gauci, ordering him to kneel on the ground, and apprehended him.

An OPP source said Gauci was armed, but did not specify with what kind of weapon.

The standoff blocked traffic on highway 35, while OPP moved the team into place around the residence.

Uniformed police arrived on the scene around noon. The tactical team arrived later, around 4:00 pm. The woman left the scene around 4:00 pm. Gauci surrendered around 4:30.

Constable Harry Livingstone, of the Coboconk OPP, said the detachment answered a call about a domestic dispute around 12:15. Gauci, who was inside, was refusing to leave, and was not permitting the woman to leave.

The OPP made contact and attempted to negotiate. Livingstone said communications were steady throughout the afternoon.

Minden council hears from executive

Lawn bowling club replacement proposed

by Jerry Grozelle

The Minden Lawn Bowling Club has big plans to bring the popular indoor sport back to the community.

Representatives from the club made a presentation to Anson, Hindon and Minden Council Thursday evening. Lew Tompkins, Bill Walker and Jim Hindle addressed council about a building to house the sport and provide a facility for other activities for seniors.

The Quonset building (the former curling club) adjacent to the fair grounds, which has housed the club for the past 15 years, was declared structurally unsafe prior to the start of the lawn bowling season this year.

Tompkins apologized to council for not attending a meeting earlier, but he pointed out that three of the club's executive members passed away this summer.

Tompkins said when the door of the club was locked last May, some of the members were "bitterly disappointed." In spite of the disappointment, most of the members left their 1996 dues in the club's account.

"We desperately need a new building," Tompkins said, adding that it wouldn't be for the exclusive use of the lawn bowlers, but could also serve as an adult drop-in centre. He said there are many craftspeople who would be willing to share their talent and expertise with other adults.

The first things the club executive needed to know, he explained, was if council had decided to tear the old building down and if the property on which it was situated would be available for construction of a new building.

Reeve Jeanne Anthon said that council was planning to remove the old structure, but that council knew the club intended to make a presentation, so any final decision was postponed until after the concerns of the lawn bowlers were heard.

Walker presented a conceptual drawing of a proposed facility which would include space for other activities besides a four-lane lawn bowling green.

It was pointed out that the facility could be used for shuffleboard, have space for pool table(s), and include a kitchen, washrooms and an area which could be used for line dancing and other functions. The proposed building would be of 2 X 6 wood frame construction, with metal siding. It would be insulated to allow year-round use.

The dimensions of the proposed building are 65 by 187 feet, a little more than double the size of the old lawn bowling facility.

Cost for the construction of the proposed building ranged from $75 to $100 per square foot, or between $900,000 and $1.3-million.

Walker explained that special carpet is needed for lawn bowling. He also pointed out that carpet costs much less when compared with the expense of maintaing natural grass.

"We're trying to look to the future," Hindle said, emphasizing the need for a multi-purpose building.

Reeve Anthon asked if the Minden Community Centre had been considered as an adult drop-in centre. She also advised that council agrees the present location would be best suited for a new facility.

Councillor Daryl Moore questioned the lawn bowling club representatives about their expectations from council. Tompkins replied that the group hasn't

April budget crisis postscript

Snobelen confirms board's cutback calculations

by Andrew Milne

A memorandum released by the Ministry of Education confirms that calculations made by Haliburton's board of education during the spring budget crisis were accurate.

Among other criticisms levelled at the board following the crisis, some provincial sources suggested that the board's initial calculation -- showing a whopping $1.2 million cut, from grant levels of around $2.4 million -- was inaccurate.

Said Director of education Brad Saunders last week, "The suggestion was that Mr. Bradley had miscalculated the reduction in grants, and somehow or other had made a mistake, and that the whole situation was after all a very large overreaction on the part of the board. I received a memo from [Minister of Education John Snobelen] recently which outlined the fact that the board's calculation was dead accurate... I make it very, very plain that even Mr. Snobelen now has admitted that Mr. Bradley's calculations were dead accurate."

The spring crisis occured when, weeks prior to budget deadline, the province released formulae that would have cut the board's transfers by -- as Bradley calculated -- $1.2 million.

Through an accident of math and history, the province's standard formula for reforming transfers had lead to particularly deep cuts in boards with rural populations and significant lake front cottage developments -- such as Haliburton. MPP Chris Hodgson intervened on behalf of the cottage boards, and the cuts in the end for Haliburton wound up at around $360,000 -- still a significant cut, but more manageable.

Hodgson also, however, criticized the board for announcing the cuts, and said the formulae from which the $1.2 million had been calculated weren't yet official.

Board officials replied -- diplomatically -- that the criticism was entirely unfounded, since such formulae are normally released so boards can calculate their grant amounts, and that they could hardly have put off setting their budget any longer.

First board meeting of season

Public, parents criticize busing cuts

bu Andrew Milne

Public opposition to transportation cuts made for a lively meeting of the school board last week.

Around a dozen parents and others concerned with cuts that require some children to walk up to two km to their bus stop or to school attended the meeting. Two residents also made formal addresses to the board.

Board officials emphasized that the cuts were required, and that the Ministry of Education had directed that cuts be made to transportation budgets.

"I asked [board officials] why they didn't cut the late bus," said Frieda Evans, a parent whose children are now walking. "They said they didn't want to discourage children from getting involved in extracurricular activities... Well, this is discouraging them from getting an education."

Evans lives at the end of a remote road, and has no telephone. She said her children are actually walking slightly more than 2 km, because they walked a short distance to where their bus stop was evenbefore the cuts.

"These are savings at the expense of children's safety," she said.

Ross Warburton, a landlord who said he rents seven houses affected by the cuts, also addressed the board. Said Warburton, "Did you survey the roads?... Did you realize who you were discriminating against when you made this decision? The people who live on the back roads... Who's going to rent these houses when they can move into low-income housing in Minden, and the bus will come and pick their children up?

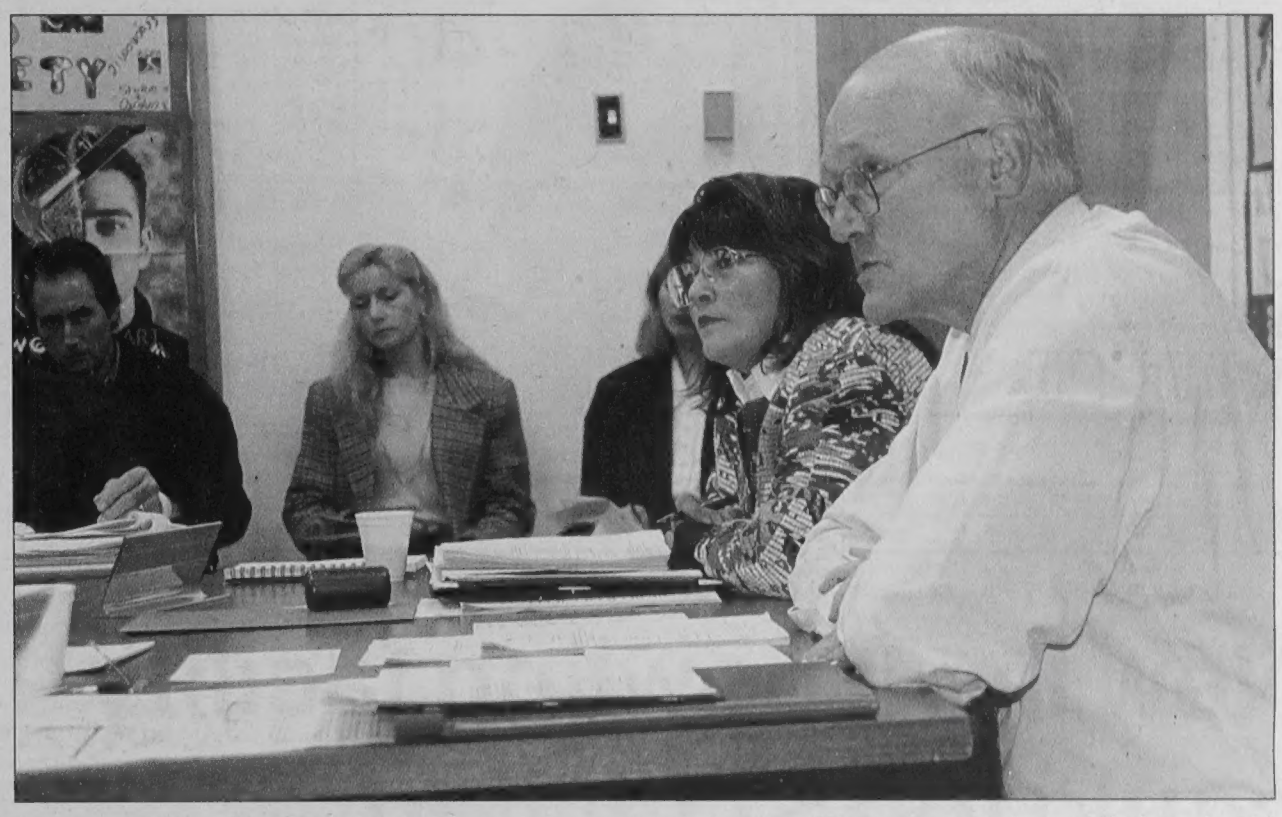
"Not everyone has two cars. Some don't even have one. We live in a county that gets real cold, and gets a lot of snow. How do these kids -- five and six year olds -- walk down the road and meet the snowplow coming?

"God forbid that someone get hurt," said Warburton later. "But if they do -- and this is not a threat, this is a promise -- there will be a lawsuit."

Warburton suggested that certain bus routes within the villages be reduced or rationalized, to allow the board to serve remote areas better. Warburton named several bus routes in the Minden village area where he said this could be done.

Board chair Wendy Ladurantaye responded to those present that the board understands there are difficulties with the approach that they have taken, and that they intend to resolve them, and that they appreciate the public's input. But she defended superintendent of business Jim Bradley's implementation of the program, and asked Warburton to refrain from personal attacks against board officials.

Said Ladurantaye, "We're interested in ways that we can make busing better for people, but this is not the place for personal attacks. I'm sure this board would stand behind its administration officials. They are doing the best job that they can under the circumstances, and with the program we give them."



Director of Education Brad Saunders makes a point during the debate over busing, while board chair Wendy Ladurantaye and parents looking on.

Board director Brad Saunders said he takes exception to suggestions that board members have administered the program callously, or are unaware of the realities of life for parents in rural regions.

Said Saunders, "The impression that is sometimes felt by members of the public is that the people sitting around this table are uncaring, unfeeling, and do not care for the welfare of children. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Everybody sitting in this room cares passionately about the welfare of the children of Haliburton county.

"There have been letters in the papers suggesting that the people around this table don't know that it rains in Haliburton county, don't know that it snows in Haliburton county, don't know that there are bears in Haliburton county. Every trustee sitting around this table knows that. Every trustee sitting around this table went through his or her share of anguish over the risks that we are asking those children to assume."

Saunders also spoke, later in the meeting, in praise of Bradley's handling of the situation.

Said Saunders, "I think he has tried to administer the board policy on transportation as fairly and as equitably as humanly possible, and that anyone sitting in his position would have difficulty trying to satisfy all those parents out there who have legitimate concerns for the welfare of their children."

One woman stood up to say she never meant by any of her criticisms to suggest board members were uncaring, but that she believes the board has to consider other areas in which to cut.

Another man, clearly upset, left the meeting midway through the discussion.

"I'm going to have to leave," he said. "I'm getting mad. I've already had one heart attack. I don't need another."

Marching Orders

The aspect of the problem board officials say they find particularly galling, is that the transportation cuts are really out of their hands following cuts to provincial transfers. Whatever the government might be saying now, they say, the board was very specifically told to cut transportation budgets. Portions of their grant given much thought to the municipality's involvement at this stage. The first step was to determine the fate of the old building and whether property would be made available for a new facility. He added that the club is planning some fund-raising events and officials have spoken with at least one local service club regarding financial contributions toward the construction of a new facility. The club will be starting any fund raising effort with $6,000 in its coffers.

Tompkins asked if council would be interested in providing an interest free loan, donate property and assist with procurement of provincial or federal grants.

Deputy-Reeve Jerry Rome said he would like to hear ideas about how the funds would be raised for construction of such an ambitious project. He added that he wasn't optimistic about the chances of getting grant money from the upper levels of government.

Anthon pointed out that there will be a great deal of pressure on the community to raise funds for health services. Extracting more for such a project may be difficult, she cautioned.

Lawn bowling club officials have also investigated the possibility of replacing the existing building with one similar to the current structure, however using different construction materials. Club officials have been quoted a price of $38,000 to $40,000 to erect a "bare bones" building over the existing lanes. Plumbing, electrical and interior finishing would be an added expense.

Moore, who is a building contractor, questioned the accuracy of the quote. He said the cost of materials would probably exceed the quoted price.

Saying he did not wish to 'rain on anybody's parade', Moore added, "Everybody has to have a dream. You have to take that dream and run with it."

Moore offered to go over the cost estimates with club officials.

"If it was a different economic time, it would be much easier to deal with the situation," Anthon said.

Club members will meet with council again to discuss the subject. In the meantime, they plan to meet with service clubs and interested individuals to see what kind of fund-raising projects are possible.

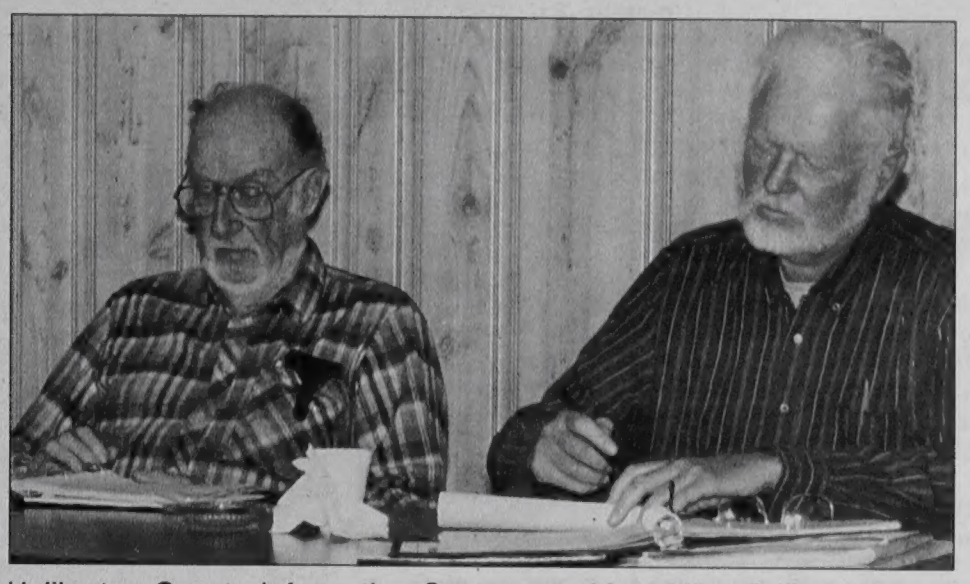
Funding cut threatens the future of information service

by Jerry Grozelle



Haliburton County Information Centre president Mike Collins, left, and representative Morris Duff listen to a presention of one of the reports during the group's annual meeting held recently in Haliburton. If recent funding cuts stand and alternate sources of financial support are not found, the local service may be forced to close.

The Haliburton County Information Centre Inc. (HCICI) has some good news and some bad news.

The good news is that it received the go-head from the Ministry of Health, Long Term Care Division, to produce its annual Seniors' Resource Calendar and the Directory.

HCICI Executive Director Tiia Billings says she hopes the calendar and directory will be completed by Christmas.

The bad news is that as of March 31, 1997, HCICI will no longer receive any ministry funding. The money represents 85 per cent of the Centre's funding, $66,000. Alternate sources of funding will have to be secured if the Information Centre is to continue providing its services.

HCICI President Mike Collins said during the HCICI annual general meeting that the Centre serves a large section of Haliburton County with a broad spectrum of specialized services. Those services, he says, range from straightforward information, to acting as a buffer between the client and government red tape.

Collins said the Information Centre name may be confusing since the HCICI provides much more than basic information. He suggested that a name change may be in order.

"Most people don't realize the breadth of the Centre's services.

Later in the meeting, Senior Administrative Assistant Karen Loney noted that volunteers had helped prepare a record 602 tax returns this year. Some of the taxpayers were several years behind in filing.

"A lot of people got money back, money they didn't know they were entitled to." Loney said, adding that it is "very rewarding" to provide that service.

"Doing tax returns turns up a lot of other problems that we are able to help with," Loney said.

"Tax time is our busiest time," she continued. "The volunteers are amazing. They spent more than 2,000 hours on Information Centre business."

"Our volunteers may be few, but they're mighty," Billings said.

"It's a lot of hours for the number of volunteers we have," Collins added.

Collins said there has been an enormous increase in demand for HCICI services since the Centre was incorporated in 1985.

"And it's still increasing," Billings interjected.

Loney said there has been a 41 per cent increase in inquiries at the Haliburton office this year. She speculated that the closure of the Minden office for renovations probably contributed to the increase. She also said that since the Minden office is only open one day per week, many people go to Haliburton rather than wait for the once-a-week opportunity to visit the Minden office.

Loney pointed out that when the Information Centre first started, the people who used the services were almost exclusively seniors.

"Now the clientele is varied," she said.

"A lot of what we do is preventative medicine," Collins said, adding that he doesn't think organizations such as the Haliburton Highlands Health Services Board and the District Health Council are aware of how important the HCICI services are. As an example, he said the Centre assists in solvoing problems that cause stress and anxiety, thereby keeping them out of the health system.

"No other service provides as much bang for the buck," Collins said. "The Centre is highly successful and very economical."

Primary funding for the HCICI is provided by the provincial government (85 per cent, or $66,000) through the Ministry of Health (Long Term Care Division) and the Ministry of Culture, Tourism and Recreation. If these ministries can't be convinced to continue providing funds, and failing that, if alternate funding can't be found, the Centre will not be able to continue providing its services.

In his annual report, Treasurer Ken McLeod said, "All that can be said about this devastating cut is that if this Centre is to continue, we must diligently seek out other sources of funding while at the same time, struggle to find a niche for ourselves in whatever new

Neighbours protest dismissed

Safer highway access granted by AH&M

by Jerry Grozelle

Despite protests from a neighbouring property owner, Raymond Goulet was given Anson, Hindon and Minden Council's go-ahead to use part of a township right-of-way to access his property.

Goulet and his wife plan to retire to their cottage on Lake Kashagawigamog near the Blairhampton turn, off Highway 121. The current access to his property is at a bend in the highway about 100 yards up the hill, from another entrance that serves other properties nearby.

Concerns were expressed about increased traffic, which would be created by the Goulets and one neighbour. The neighbour also feared that increased traffic would make the current properties along the road more vulnerable to break-ins and vandalism.

Councillor Plooard said that by having the Goulets using the road, it would make the neighbouring properties safer, sort of like a Neighbourhood Watch situation.

Goulet's plan is to access the property from the road almost directly across from the Blairhampton Road, near the base of the hill, a location Goulet says is much safer than his current access. Once he has extended the right-of-way about 30 feet across his property, Goulet says he will close the current access road and plant trees to enhance the appearance of the site. He also agreed to maintain his section of newly created road as well as pay his share of the cost of maintaining the current section.

Councillor Daryl Moore said he has no doubt the Ministry of Transportation would welcome the closure of one access road.

"By decreasing the number of driveways, you'd decrease the number of accidents," he said.

Council passed a resolution stating that it has no objections to Goulet's proposal, providing that he assumes responsibility for maintenance of the 30 feet of road which will be on his property, plus a portion of the current access road.

The municipality will assume no costs relating to either the extension of road or the maintenance.

Reeve Anthon said she hoped all the concerns could be worked out "between good neighbours."

Around four'o'clock, the woman was able to get out, and was helped into a waiting ambulance. She was shaken, but not injured.

A neighbour who saw her leave, said, "She was just shaken up to death — scared to death, but he didn't hurt her."

Livingstone says police did not play any role in getting the woman out.

Said another neighbour, "We saw the SWAT guys going past, all in their camouflage uniforms — you could only see their eyes through their masks. They waved at us. It was pretty scary."

Neighbours said they believe the incident was related to a falling out between Gauci and a woman with whom he had been living.

Gauci has been charged with assault and forcible confinement. The bail hearing is today.

Gauci ran a small snack bar — formerly called Joy's Country Takeout — from the same property as his residence. He was in the news in January as well, when the building burned down for the second time in three years.

Search for a compromise

The busing issue continues to bedevil parents and the members of the Haliburton County Board of Education. As the letters to the editor on these pages and the report elsewhere in this edition relate, there is still a high degree of concern over the board's decision to have students throughout the system walk up to two kilometres to central bus pick up points.

We agree with the contention expressed by a number of parents that the decision by the board to set the limit at two kilometres, though simple and easy to calculate, is arbitrary. It leaves no room for special consideration of the rural nature of the bus routes and the fact that many of the roads were not designed to accommodate pedestrians. But, although we sympathize with the concerns expressed by parents for the well-being of their children, we wonder it somef the dire predictions are perhaps exaggerated.

On the other hand, the board is faced with a dwindling resource base and a provincial government, perhaps with a dominant urban perspective, which insists that transporting students by bus is a 'luxury' that the provincial grant structure need not support. The board is caught between the dictates of the Ministry of Education and the demands of the parents who are concerned about the safety of their children. It is an unenviable situation for local trustees who are attempting to do the best they can with the funds they have been given.

While there is no easy solution to this dilemma, we believe there are compromises that can be worked out. As we stated earlier, the two kilometre limit is an arbitrary one. Though it may be easy to administer, the limit has little relationship to the circumstances in each case. There are no doubt locations within the system where the danger is just too great to allow students to walk on a roadway. Likewise there are locations where a two kilometre walk or more is not unreasonable nor unsafe. As well, in some instances it may be necessary to institute an age or grade limit. This recognizes there are students who are mature enough to navigate the distance between home and school on their own. Special consideration could also be given to the impact of seasonal changes.

Granted, assessing each case on a set of criteria will be as arbitrary as the two km edict. However, it will allow the special circumstances of certain locations and students to be taken into consideration. It could also provide a mechanism by which the trustees and the parents, working together, could resolve what currently promises to be an ongoing point of contention.

New school bus policy discriminates

The following is a copy of a letter sent to the Haliburton County Board of Education from a number of concerned residents in Gooderham area.

Dear Members of the Board:

We are the parents of school children, pre-school children and relatives and friends of children living on Tamarack Lake Road in Gooderham, (Glamorgan Township-Haliburton County). Please note that a petition is being circulated in the Township also regarding this matter.

We feel that our children are being unfairly discriminated against because of the new policy regarding bussing that requires children living up to 2 km from a main road to now walk to a designated bus stop. We are also aware that there are exceptions being made to the policy.

We pay the same taxes as parents living in the villages and on the highways. We have been told by your representatives that since we choose to live where we do, we must accept responsibility for our children getting to the bus stop. We feel that we have already met this by paying our taxes.

A school bus has run on this particular road for the past 70 years.

We live 5 km from the school but children who live less than 2 km from the school are still being picked up by the buses. We have no problem with that because we want all children in our County to be safe, but we do have a problem with the fact that someone came up with a "magical figure" of

Just keeps getting better

Editor:

Well, summer is over, the beautiful fall season is upon us...you have to admit the countryside is getting pretty nice.

We wanted to write to thank the folks responsible for all the activities that were offered in Minden this past summer. The Canada Day celebrations on July 1st weekend were great.

The Music by the Gull Friday nights was a real treat...it was a privilege to listen to great music and visit with friends while sitting on the riverbank. We have lots of talent in our town.

The playground at Rotary Park was an added delight this year as well. Many children enjoyed hours of fun. We enjoyed hours of swimming and playing in the park and lots of delicious picnics there.

We moved to Minden about 20 years ago and have loved living here. Our town just keeps getting better.

Thank you Minden.

Board must re-examine busing policy

2 km and now our children are no longer entitled to be picked up by the bus at their homes where parents can be certain that the child did in fact get on the bus safely.

It is a fact that if our children required French or Separate School, the Board of Education would supply bussing and tuition out of the County at the cost of $15,000 to $18,000 per child, so we wonder why our children appear to be less important.

We are concerned that any child is expected to walk any distance in this day and age. While children living in towns often have sidewalks to walk on and areas where their parents can park if they choose to drive them, we do not have that luxury. Our children will have to walk on remote rural roads in bad weather, fog, various hunting seasons, wade snow and also be at risk of being struck by snow plows and other vehicles while they walk facing traffic with their winter head gear pulled over their ears and faces. We, as parents, do not have a spot to park our cars alongside these roads and as it was pointed out by Jim Bradley to one of us, we are causing a potential problem by being there because we chose to drive our children rather than let them walk.

Children may be left standing at these bus stops for long periods of time if they miss the bus or if the bus is late for some reason. There may be no one around to see if they get on the bus and this is totally unacceptable to us as parents because children are exposed to all types of predators, human and otherwise.

We understand that the Board has to look at ways to save money but this hardship should be across the County and affect all parents of school children, not just some. We wonder just how many of the Board members are personally affected by this policy that has been made.

The taxpayers vote-in trustees to ensure that the best interests of all taxpayers are considered and not to discriminate against a certain few because of where they live and cite specific policies they implement. These trustees are charged with the responsibility of making recommendations to the School Board Administration but it appears the administration is setting policy and persuading the trustees to accept this, only to preserve their own positions and interests.

In our opinion, there are other ways to save dollars than at the expense of children's health and safety and if this means persuading the Ministry of Education to change some of their legislated policies that are costing exorbitant dollars, then this should be pursued.

We feel that the Board of Education should take another long look at this new bussing policy and admit that they have made a mistake and reverse the decision so that the old policy be reinstated. We feel that the former policy was sound and made with children in mind. We would applaud the Board if they would reverse their decision because we know that we all learn from our mistakes.

In closing, we feel that children's safety should come before money and on that point we do not intend to budge. We wonder just how much the Board feels a child's life is worth.

Joan Trotter, Alfred Trotter and fourteen others,
Gooderham.

Near misses

Editor:

It is only the third week of school and I have heard of several near misses between drivers and children. These children who used to be transported safely on buses are now on the roads. I say ON the roads because in many cases, there are NO shoulders or sidewalks! These children are in DANGER and consider that this is:

1: Ideal weather
2: road conditions are optimum
3: visibility is perfect.
What will happen this winter?

I implore parents to make their concerns known where it counts. As drivers, let us also share our concerns with the Board and our elected representatives.

We can't afford to lose one child.

Dorothy Owens,
Haliburton

Students in danger

Editor:

I am writing this letter Because I am a very concerned mother. I agree wholeheartedly with Mrs. Davis because I was taught that 2 km was 2 km not 2.1 or 2.3.

For example, there is a family that lives on Main Street, just past the doctor's office in Minden. They received a letter saying they would have to take their children to Jug City out on the busy Highway 35 by-pass to catch the bus. Across the street, their neighbour's children and the children down the street get picked up at the end of their driveways and they are even closer to the school.

The name game

What's in a name? That which we call a rose
By any other name would smell as sweet.

Methinks Shakespeare badly underestimated the power of names. As a fellow by the name of George Ade observed, "a rose by any other name might smell as sweet, but would not cost half as much during the winter months."

Names are the very cornerstone of our identity. Otherwise, why would Wawa be suing HAHA?

Wawa is the name of a chain of American retail stores with some 500 outlets in five U.S. states. The lawyers for Wawa have gone to court to force the HAHA market in Allentown, Pennsylvania, to change its name. Sounds too close to Wawa, the lawyers claim. Customers might get confused and spend their money in HAHA when they should be shopping in Wawa.

What makes that silly suit even more complicated is that the HAHA market came by its moniker honestly. The HAHA is owned an operated by Tamilee and George Haaf. They could have called the store HAAF and HAAF, but they didn't want to get it confused with a dairy creamer so they lopped off AF and AF and wound up with HAHA Market.

I can't help thinking that this lawsuit would never have made it to court in Canada—if only because Wawa and HaHa are well-respected names this side of the border.

Well....fairly well respected.

Wawa is the name of an Ontario town on the north shore of Lake Superior. It takes its name from the Ojibway word for goose, and just to drive the lesson home, there's a huge two-storey Canadian goose made from ferroconcrete perched on the outskirts of the town.

As for Ha Ha, that's fifty percent of the name of a Quebec town—Saint-Louis-du-Ha Ha. Ha Ha being the name of a tributary of the Sauguenay River. There is also Ha Ha Bay.

But then, we're good at unusual names in Canada—from Dildo in Newfoundland to Skookumchuck in British Columbia. In between you can find Moose Jaw, a Punkeydoodle Corners, a Musquadoboit, and a Crapaud, Prince Edward Island.

Here is the Great White North we do English names (Scarborough, Kingston) and French names (Montreal, Trois Rivieres), Indian names (Ottawa, Winnipeg), and...well, you name it. Aklavik is Iniktituk, Hobbema is Dutch, and Canadian (yes Canadian) place names like Marathon, London, Paris, Brussels and Athens speak for themselves. Canada's got short names (Emo, Ont.) and long ones such as the tiny Quebecois village barely big enough to support its name: Coeur-Tres-Pur-de-la-Bienheureuse-Vierge-Marie-de-Plaisance.

Ontario has Sioux Lookout. Saskatchewan has Outlook. Saskatchewan is rather heavy in body parts. Prairie schoolkids used to memorize the names of a Canadian Pacific Railroad's branch line by chanting "Tuxford hit the Marquis on the Eyebrow with his Elbow spoiling his Outlook."

And that was without reaching Climax, (Saskatchewan).

As for Shakespeare and his sweet-smelling rose theory, Canada has a Rose Blanche, a Rosetown, a Rose Harbour, a Rose Point and a Rose Valley. We also have a Roseisle, a Rosemary, a Rosemere, a Rosemount and Rosebud River.

That aromatic enough for you, Bill?

Fair for everyone

I have tried to teach my children that we are all equal no matter what colour our skin or whether we are fat or thin, rich or poor, young or old. We all bleed red blood if we get cut and we all have a heart and feelings that can be hurt. This doesn't seem to be the message our children are getting today. It's the one I remember our grandfather saying, it depends on what side of the tracks (street) you come from.

My children also have to go to Jug City where it is very busy at 7:50 a.m., and at 4:15 p.m. because of Hydro trucks, construction trucks, people getting gas and just the normal going in and out of the two driveways and cars are yielding on Highway 35 into four lanes of traffic. In the winter, the visibility is very poor because the snow cones become very high. The last thing you really need is a large, high, school bus trying to turn in with all the other congestion.

I love and care for my children. They are my life. No one has the right to put a dollar sign on them.

I've been told our taxes would have to be raised five or six dollars a year to get our buses running again. I would be glad to pay that to know that our children were warm and safe on a bus away from the danger of speeding cars, snowploughs and wild animals that could maul a child to death.

They are talking of more cuts to education, but let's hope they start cutting at the right place, the chiefs, because they have already bled the Indians to near death and our children are the ones suffering.

I have prayed to keep our children safe because they are 'the future', our future.

A very concerned parent,

Sue Payne,
Minden.

Resignation

Editor:

The following letter is addressed to the General Membership of the Minden Curling Club:

After very serious consideration, I have resigned from the Executive of the Minden Curling Club.

The reason is that I believe there were many irregularities and very serious conflict of interest in the hiring of the new bartender.

As an Executive Member I found this totally unacceptable.

If you, as members, have any questions in this matter, please feel free to contact me at any time.

As I will not be curling at the Minden Club this year, I would like to thank everyone for all the help over the years and all the best to everyone.

Respectfully,

Neil Burk,
Minden.

TSW water levels report

The lakes of the Trent-Severn Waterway located in the Haliburton area declined by about 5% this past week. At 52.2% on Monday, September 23, they were still about 11% higher than usual for the time of year.

The large surplus on the Kāwarthas diminished enough by Sunday, September 22 (after cut-backs of the flow) to re-open for navigation from Buckhorn to Trenton. The Otonabee flow is still well above September normal at about 75m 3/s (cubic metres per second). Rain on Tuesday, September 24 has prevented further flow reductions and a modest increase along the Otonabee and Trent may be needed again, due to the periods of rain forecast for this weekend.

HHSS celebrates Gary Brohman's induction into WLU Sports Hall of Fame

A thunderous standing ovation greeted Haliburton Highlands Secondary School principal Gary Brohman when he walked into the school auditorium Friday morning.

Brohman was being inducted into Sir Wilfrid Laurier University's Sports Hall of Fame later that day, but HHSS beat the University to the punch by honouring "Bro" with a 9 a.m. assembly.

"I've been here at HHSS for 25 years and this is the first assembly I've had," Brohman said.

"We're giving you the flowers now so you will be ready to bloom tonight," said Tim Davies, who acted as master of ceremonies for the presentation. "That's why were here."

Davies explained to the 700-plus students who filed into the auditorium to pay tribute to Brohman that he would be honoured later in the day at a special ceremony in Waterloo.

"So, we thought Hal High should get the ball rolling like only we can," he said, adding that he was honoured to speak at the assembly.

He explained that WLU Sports Hall of Fame inductees must be nominated for the honour. Then, a nominating committee reviews the nominations and selects those who will be inducted.

"Old number 74 (Brohman's WLU football jersey number), at anchor end, was nominated in the legend category," Davies said. "He played at WLU, was a captain and all-star."

Davies pointed out that Brohman has been loyal to WLU, spending summers coaching for five years.

"As an alumnus, he has contributed thousands of dollars and he has sent many players from Hal High who have contributed to the (WLU) football program.

Davies spoke with one of Brohman's coaches from WLU and passed on a couple of anecdotes from his playing days.

"WLU had you for five to 10 years," Davies said, "but HHSS has had you for 25 years."

From his own perspective, Davies said he considered Brohman his teacher, surrogate father, mentor, boss and, most importantly, friend."

Davies told the students that they were the most important thing to Brohman and to the school principal, Davies said, "You are Redmen football."

Davies numbered the athletes who have benefitted from Brohman's coaching experience in the thousands.

"Enjoy your day because you deserve it," Davies said. "Share your heart with WLU tonight because when you return, Hal High requires 100 per cent of it."

Speaking to the students, Brohman said it was always his dream to teach athletics and he never let go of that dream. He encouraged the students to set their own goals and to never lose sight of those goals.

SPECIAL HONOUR: HHSS principal Gary Brohman was honoured with a surprise assembly Friday morning to congratulate him on being inducted into the Sir Wilfrid Laurier University Sports Hall of Fame.

AHM supports trail development

Ray Woodward, Wayne Cowling and John Teljeur approached Anson, Hindon and Minden Council requesting financial support for the Haliburton Nordic Trails Association. The funds will be used to develop local trails.

Woodward, who manages Woodland Estates, said the Association is planning to create a loop trail, completing 30 kilometres on the property. It was explained that cross country skiers prefer a looped trail, which avoids returning to a base point along the same trail.

The goal is to create multiple use trails, which will attract more people to Haliburton County.

Thinking of the threats to close private property when the Managed Forest Tax Rebate Program was cancelled by the NDP government, Councillor Grant Plooard asked if there was any chance these trails would be closed to the public. He was assured the Association had no intention of closing the trails.

Cowling explained that it is important to have a variety of trails to keep people coming back year after year.

"They want to see different trails," Cowling said. "You could have a hard time getting people to come back unless there are other areas to send them to. You need something new for people to see."

Cowling said he is working on linking a trail through from Hart Lodge to the Kinark facility.

"We need a diversity of trails in the county and we're asking council to help us realize that goal," said Teljeur.

The Haliburton Nordic Trails Association operates the trail system in co-operation with property owners

Woodward explained that the Association will have to hire a bulldozer for a total of three days to work on two trails.

Reeve Jeanne Anthon explained that support for the Association was taken into consideration at budget time. A resolution was passed granting $1,000 to the Association to help offset the cost of trail development.

BIG SPENDERS/BIG WINNERS: Marj Kennedy and Larry Tupling of Silver Eagle Resort on Eagle Lake spent a lot of money at the third annual Haliburton-Minden Ducks Unlimited Dinner and Auction Friday night at the Wigamog Inn. They were also big winners, taking home two of the three Grand Slam prizes.

Beyond the call

Jerry Walker, chairman of the Haliburton-Minden chapter of Ducks Unlimited for the first two years (centre), was honoured with a "Distinguished Service Award" for his dedication to the cause. 1996 chairman John Middleton (left) and Ducks Unlimited Contributor Services Representative, Brent Mason, are seen here congratulating Walker on his award.

Busing

meant to be directed to education were reduced accordingly. The government also made it very clear that boards were not to raise taxes to compensate.

In Haliburton, the cuts to busing routes were made in the entirely surreal atmosphere that prevailed during budget deliberations last year, when the province announced, with mere weeks warning, deep cuts to transfer payments. The original announcement from the province had been for cuts of around $1.2 million -- around half the total grants from the province, and about a sixteenth of the total board budget. The absurdly deep cut was based on a standard formula, which was to be applied to boards across the province, but through an accident of math and history, lead to particularly deep cuts in boards with rural populations and significant lake front cottage developments -- such as Haliburton.

MPP Chris Hodgson intervened on behalf of the cottage boards, and the cuts in the end for Haliburton wound up at around $360,000 -- still a significant cut, but more manageable. (Hodgson also criticized the board at the time for jumping the gun on announcing the cuts, despite the advanced hour, and claimed the formulae from which the $1.2 million had been calculated weren't yet official. Board officials replied such formulae are normally released so boards can calculate their grant amounts, and they could hardly put off setting their budget any longer. Some suggestions were also made that the board hadn't been accurate in calculating the cuts from the formula -- a recent memo from the MOET however has confirmed the board's $1.2 million figure was entirely correct -- see related story, page 2.)

The busing cuts, however, remained in place. Nor were they the only cuts. The board also made cuts to maintenance budgets, rolled back elemntary teachers' and board staff's salaries, and cut their own honoraria, among other measures.

Said Saunders, " Everybody in this room knows that when the current government was being elected, they ran on a platform of getting the deficit under control, of getting what they viewed as our escalating expenditures under control. The only way to do that is to make significant cuts in the level of services that are expected in this province... Many of you people in this room elected them to do that. And now all of sudden, we as a board of education are confronted with the human costs of the budget decisions that were made last spring.

"This was not a decision that was taken lightly. It continues to be taken very, very seriously. When you ask small children to walk up to two kilometers, there can't help but be an expansion of the risk for some kind of mishap. Mr. Warburton put it very well: none of us here would look forward to such a mishap. We're all desperately keeping our fingers crossed that nothing of that nature is going to happen.

"But I ask you to put yourself in the shoes of the fifteen people sitting here. They've been directed by the government to cut money out of transportation.

"Do we feel unhappy about this? Absolutely."

ASES School council report

The following is a report from the School Council at Archie Stouffer Elementary School. The group will be providing monthly updates on its activities.

We unanimously accepted as our interim chairperson, Mary McKelvey (parent) and our interim secretary, Carol Cox (non-teaching representative, at our meeting before summer.

The other members of the council include: parents Ron Callaghan, Skip Ray, Maureen Bennett, Rob Orlowski, Kirsti Reynolds and Jackie Salerno-Ruddy; plus teaching representative Eric Thompson ; Principal Peter Forgrave; senior community representative John Thomas and business community representative Gord Monk.

We are presently looking into a nutritional program for the future year and also have concerns about the additional Educational Assistants needed at Archie Stouffer to facilitate a smooth running system for all.

Our next meeting (and all our meetings are public) is scheduled for October 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the library at the school.

structure is planned for the provision of services such as ours.

"We owe our success to the literally thousands of clients who have come to depend on us over the years for information and assistance and to our hard working and dedicated staff."

McLeod expressed his appreciation to the municipalities of Dysart et al and Anson, Hindon and Minden for their continued support by providing accommodations.

The Housing Registry, which is administered by the HCICI, was accessed a total of 670 times over the 1995-96 fiscal year. HCICI also co-ordinates the use of the Dymo Bus, which provides transportation for physically challenged, visually impaired, seniors, cognitively disabled and others, who may not otherwise have rides to doctors' appointments, shopping and recreational activities.

Billings said that the HCICI had planned to open satellite offices in some of the more remote areas of the county. The communities involved and the local governments were eager and supportive, but announcements of provincial funding cuts prevented those initiatives.

"Due to funding pressures, a significant amount of time was spent meeting with the various government agencies lobbying for our involvement in the new long Term Care Centralized Community Access Centres," Billings reported.

Billings said the Centre experienced "unprecedented activity levels" over the fiscal year 1995-96, with more than 9,200 inquiries recorded for the period. That represents a 36 per cent increase over the previous year, which "further demonstrates the continued and increasing need for the services we provide within the community."

Billings said she believes the services provided by the Centre are valuable and essential and she is confident that a solution will be found to the funding cuts.

Are you at risk?

Area video stores are participating in the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit AIDS Awareness Program by handing out "Are You At Risk" flyers with video rentals.

District Medical Officer of Health, Doctor Alexander Huckowich (centre) is seen here with Westside Jug City representatives Rawn Brown (front) and Brian Moore at the Haliburton store.

The flyer is a checklist which evaluates the risk and offers some suggestions about the best way to protect oneself from the dreaded disease. The flyer is aimed at teens and adults. Twenty-two of 25 video outlets in Haliburton County are participating in the program.

Besides the video outlets, several businesses have agreed to get the AIDS message out to the public by including slogans such as "AIDS, Everyone's Concern" or "Youth, AIDS and Reality" on their changeable outdoor signs.

AIDS Awareness Week is September 29 to October 5.

Want to Become An Entrepreneur?
We Can Help Make Your Dream Become A Reality.

If You Already Have:
• A Great Idea
• A Desire To Be Self-sufficient
• High Energy Levels
• Lots of Ambition

But You Need A BUSINESS PLAN

This four week Business Plan Development Program will help you:

- produce a complete, comprehensive business plan
- meet professionals who can provide information on funding sources
- take the necessary steps to get your business started
- network with others intent on becoming successful entrepreneurs

The Business Plan Development Program gives you individual hands-on help with your business plan as opposed to another "how-to-booklet" that leaves you on your own to figure it out.

Class sizes are small; individual help is provided for the researching and writing of the business plan. Our professional staff are all successful entrepreneurs with extensive experience helping other entrepreneurs in writing plans, providing sources of legal and financial advice and using sound methods to research your business idea. If you want a focused, no nonsense approach that will give you a completed business plan you can take to your funding agency, this program is for you.

To be eligible for this program you must meet one of the following conditions:
1) currently in receipt of an Employment Insurance benefit;
2) have been receiving U.I. some time during the past 3 years;
3) have been receiving a maternity or parental leave benefit some time in the past 5 years.

If you do not meet the above criteria, you may register in the Business Plan Development Program on a fee for service basis.

For more information on program content,
call Mowbray, Frankum and Associates at 1-888-669-2729

For more information on Employment Insurance eligibility, call 457-1316

Program Dates: October 7 to November 1, 1996

OCT. 5th IS WORLD TEACHER'S DAY

We join with UNESCO in recognizing the more than 48 million teachers world-wide, their enthusiasm, their dedication, and the central role they play in the education of our youth. Friend, advisor, leader, educator - today's teacher is making Ontario a better place for tomorrow, because public education works for our students.

District Drumhead Service

Veterans and Legion members from 56 branches gathered in Haliburton September 22 for the annual District Drumhead Service. The Head Lake Park bandshell was the focus for the services as close to 300 people gathered to pay tribute to those who served in the armed forces.

To the skirl of pipes and the beat drums, the group marched from the Haliburton Legion Hall to the park for the service. The marchers added to the colourful setting as over 120 flags snapped in the crisp autum air. Follwing the parade, drums were used to create an altar for the service. Following the ceremonies, the participants returned to the Haliburton Legion Hall for fellowship.

Administrative Assistant

Ministry of Health - Long-Term Care Division

Haliburton, Northumberland, Victoria Long-Term Care Access Centre Board of Directors requires immediately a part-time administrative assistant for an average of 25 hours per week on a flexible schedule. Initially, this is a contract position through March 31, 1997.

The successful candidate will be an experienced individual with superior communication skills, computer literacy and financial aptitude. Working for a volunteer board, the administrative assistant must be independent and organized and have the ability to produce accurate minutes, budget information, statistical reports, media releases and professional correspondence. Time management skills and the ability to prioritize and reliable transportation are essential. Familiarity with long term care services would be a definite asset.

Florence Robinson dropped us a note with the following kind words about her sister Jennie Voycey. She writes: "Jennie Grace Voycey was born on September 22, 1915, the second daughter of Cara and Delbert Rogers. She spent her early years on a farm and attended Minden School. In 1936 she married Ernest Voycey and they spent 60 happy years together. When they were first married, they lived at Eagle Lake and he had work at the Cooperage. When it shut down, they had a camp near Redstone Lake and he employed several men to work in the bush. Grace was well-known for her delicious meals, especially apple pie. In 1946 they bought a farm at Gamebridge and moved there. Grace became involved in the church and Women's Institute work. There she helped until her failing health forced her to give them up. After a few years on the farm, they retired and built a comfortable house on their own land. There they enjoyed the company of relatives and friends until her death on July 27 of this year. Beside her husband, she leaves one sister Florence Robinson of Minden and Her brother Roy Rogers of Vernon B.C. and two daughters Eileen Cockburn of Woodville and Linda Voycey of Gamebridge. " They rest from their labours and their works do follow them."

A wonderful time was had by all at the 50th wedding anniversary celebration for Ken and Betty Hardy held in their home recently. In attendance were daughter Eleanor and grandson Anthony from Calgary, Stella McLean of Haliburton, "old" neighbours from Bramalea Liz and Bert Johnson, long time friends Bette and Bill Smyth of Milton and, of course, host and hostess son Keith and daughter-in-law Judy.

Audrey Northey was invited to attend the Liver Transplant Picnic held in Barrie on Sunday, September 22. Approximately 100 recipients of liver transplants along with their family and friends were in attendance. Audrey's late husband was a recipient of a liver transplant and Audrey has maintained friendship with many of these good folk over the years. Dr. Paul Greig, head of the Liver Transplant Team in Toronto was also in attendance and he expressed a strong wish for more people to sign donor cards. There have been 500 transplants done in Toronto and many individuals have returned to work and most have a good quality of life.

If you like to play cards, and don't know what's available, have a peek at this:

•Mondays there is euchre at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m.

•Tuesdays there is contract bridge at 1:00, bid euchre at 1:30 and euchre at 7:30 p.m.

•Wednesdays bid euchre at 7 pm.

•Thursdays euchre at 7:15 pm.

•Fridays bid euchre at 7 pm.

Here is where it all happens (and everyone is welcome to join in):

* St. Paul's Friendship Club euchre Monday at 1:30 p.m. Last week Nancy Gayton held the most lone hands, Gladys Wruth had the high score and the 50-50 draw was won by Iris Taylor.

* Club 35 euchre Monday at 7:30p.m. Partners not required. Last week Garth Windsor held the most lone hands, Ivan Kernohan and Verna Sawyer the high scores, Harold Culley and Tom Pearson the low scores with Harry Randell winning the 50-50 draw. There was a special award given to Mary Schad but I don't know what is was for.

* Stanhope Firefighters Hall contract bridge Tuesday at 1:00 p.m.. Partners are not required. Last week Betty Schlotter was first (so what else is new), Frank Schlotter second and Fran Daniels third. There were 2 small slams bid and made by Wynne Hansen/Russ Fair and by Marion Irwin/Helen Rice. Seven tables were a-hopping!

* Minden Legion Seniors bid euchre Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. Last week Verna McDonald was first, Gala Stamp second and Marie Dennie third. Hidden score to Marg McAfee and moonshot by Iris Taylor.

* Lochlin Community Centre euchre Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Last week Gerald Hicks and Betty Curry had the high scores while Audrey Vick and George Bartley held the low. Lone hand award went to Neil Cartwright.

* Stanhope Firefighters Hall bid euchre Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. Last week Mary Pearson led with 315 followed by Marion Irwin with 309, Olive Jones 287, Mary Pipher 280, Wilf Ackerblade 268 and Jim Skinner 267.

* Minden Legion euchre Thursday at 7:15 p.m. On September 19, Helen Lee and Anne McCreight had the high scores while Vivian Anderson and Betty Harper held the low. Most lone hands by May Bradbury and Pearl Cowan. Other prizes were distributed to Thelma Francis, Maria Tschida, Bill Mitchell and Ralph Schroter.

* Club 35 bid euchre Friday at 7:00 p.m. Partners are not required. On September 20 Loretta Lamb led the pack with a 255, Bud Pipher 248, Dorothy Walters 245, David Lamb 232, Mary Pipher 230 and Garth Windsor 225. Yes, the Lambs and Piphers are still speaking.

HEALTH CORNER

"The Cardiovascular System"

The heart is a "pump" which drives the blood, a complex fluid containing food materials, respiratory gases, waste products, protective and regulating chemical substances round blood vessels, a closed system of tubes: arteries from the "pump" go to the tissues of the body and branches into capilleries, where the interchange of gases, food and waste substances occurs and reunites to form veins from the tissues of the body back to the "pump".

CARDS OF THANKS

A personal thank you from Lambs & Ivy to all of my patrons for ten years of successful business. I will be on the road doing shows and festivals so for dates or information call me at 286-1862. Special thank you to my parents Blair and Vivian Hanthorn and H.C.D.C. for their help and support and to the local family: the Russells and the Farrells - you've been the best.
Sincerely,
Louise Weber.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to thank all who sent cards, goodies and phoned during my stay in Lindsay Hospital. Also thanks to my ambulance drivers who were so kind to me.
Thanks again,
Alice Prentice.

The family of the late Garnet Sedgwick would sincerely like to thank all our relatives and friends who provided support through visits, telephone calls, prayers, floral tributes, cards, food and memorial donations to Ingoldsby United Church. Special thanks to Rev. Harry Morgan for his special tribute to Garney (Dad) to Bill Gliddon for his inspiring music and to the staff of the Gordon Monk Funeral Home and to our special friends at Parklane Apartments for providing a wonderful luncheon. You kindness will always be remembered.
Gladys, Sue, Brian, Megan & Ryan.

We wish to extend heartfelt thanks to all who made our fiftieth anniversary such a memorable event. We were honoured to receive visits from our relatives, neighbours and friends at the Legion on Saturday afternoon, Seeptember fourteenth, the exact date of our wedding fifty years ago. All cards, flowers, telephone calls and gifts are cherished. We especially thank our three children and their families for making this celebration happen. A big thank you to all who helped in the preparation and service of the delicious dinner and to those who attended the evening celebration.
We are truly blessed.
Denzil and Jean Cox.

IN MEMORIAM

FOUNTAIN: In memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather Everette, who passed away October 2, 1986.
Remembrance is a gold chain
To have, to love and then to part,
Will never wipe out the memory
Of those happy days
When we were all together.
Always loved and sadly missed by Leona and Family.

HARRISON: In memory of a dear sister Laura who passed away September 29, 1984 and a dear brother-in-law who left us June 17, 1980.
We can't have the old days back,
When we were all together,
But secret tears and loving thoughts
Will be with us forever.
Lovingly remembered by Alice.

MISCIO: In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather Mike, who passed away September 25, 1972.
Softly the leaves of memory fall
Gently we gather, treasure them all,
Some may forget now that you're gone
We will remember, no matter how long.
Loved and sadly missed by daughter Vera and family.

MISCIO: In loving memory of our dear father Mike, who passed away September 25, 1972.
We had a father with a heart of gold
Who was more to me than wealth untold
Without farewell he fell asleep
With only memories for us to keep.
Sadly missed. Love you Papa, Daughter Nell and family.
